UPDATE #21

LOCAL 700 SAFETY PROTOCOLS/GUIDELINES (UPDATE 6-10-2020)

Below is a link to the protocols/guidelines put together by Local 700 for our craft-specific concerns and considerations. Our Local 700 guidelines have been submitted to the IATSE and to the labor side of the Industry-Wide Labor-Management Safety Committee Task Force for the next phases, as there are still a couple of steps that need to be completed. One is to have these concerns and considerations reviewed and incorporated into an Industry-Wide Labor-Management Safety Committee Task Force Phase Two document. The other involves negotiations with the AMPTP about any temporary modifications that may need to be addressed within our collective-bargaining agreements in order to implement the safety protocols. I will keep you updated as both of these phases evolve.

Our Local 700 document was drafted in conjunction with small working groups representing our various classifications, feedback from the membership survey, which so many of you participated in, conversations that took place during the Coffee with Cathy series, input from staff members who worked in the crafts, as well as individual emails I received from members. It contains what we believe must be adhered to and implemented for our members to return safely to work sites and/or continue to work remotely in some cases, at least for the time being.

Below is also a link to the Phase One document that was previously sent out to all of you. It is important to remember that the Local 700 document works as an addendum to the Phase One document.

Thank you for the input from so many of you! It was a truly collaborative effort, and I sincerely appreciate your insights and participation.

With best regards and solidarity,
